Mongolei

The image shows a map of Mongolia, a landlocked country in East-Central Asia. The map is filled with a light tan color and has a dark, irregular border. Two overlapping red rectangles are drawn over the map. The first rectangle is on the left side, covering the western part of the country. The second rectangle is on the right side, covering the eastern part of the country. The two rectangles overlap in the center of the map. The word 'Mongolei' is written in black text in the center of the map, within the overlapping area of the two rectangles. The word 'Russland' is written in grey text above the map, and the word 'China' is written in grey text below the map.
